

Solo lived on the sycamore tree with all his friends. The other seeds only wanted to fly to the bottom of the tree. Solo knew he wanted to go further, so he flew as far away from the tree as he could and started to grow on his own.